
Title: Year Zero

Author: Isk

A drawing of a clenched fist in black and brown
When the Philosophe comes and sits upon the throne of Lord British the world will know divinity and righteousness.
The calendar will be changed to signify the new age that humanity will embark upon. The past will be eliminated to destroy any sign of past idealism and the calendar will begin on year Zero.

Year Zero will be the most difficult time as a lot will have to be left behind.
First the populace will be introduced to future building labour where five hours a day are allocated every day by each citizen for work. This work will be to create textiles or gather natural resources for the Co-Prosperity of all cities.

Gold and currency will be reduced to being worthless as such things only pollute the mind and create classes within humanity which is destined to be equal. Every city will be given a Mayor to run the city according to the laws of the Philosophe.
Each family will be responsible to bear at least two children in order to keep humanity

the most populated race on Sosaria.

Among the first structures to be built will be the re-education centres for those who need to be reintroduced to the Humanis ideology.

Every city will have a statue of the Philosophe at each gate.

All non-humans will be driven to the Lost Lands where they will be sealed and forbidden to leave.
There they will live like savages outside from civilization and order in time they will kill each other for they know no better.

Such will be the events of Year Zero